To Whom It May Concern

Any company would be fortunate to have Lindsay Alberth and her talent as a UX Designer. She is a passionate designer with experience in wireframing, UI patterns, and user flows.

In addition, Lindsay's background in graphic design and digital marketing are natural compliments to being a UX Designer, as she has an incredible grasp on the nuances of the creative marketing industry—from brainstorming, research to finalization; and development, testing and implementation of interactive, user-facing products that move the needle on business metrics.

Lindsay also expertly manages projects cross-functionally with company team members and also external vendors to deliver final projects on-time or ahead of schedule. She is a results-oriented worker and has my highest recommendation.

Sincerely,

Kate Greenberg
